

Assistant Professor - Applied Microeconomics (Health, Family/Gender)

The Department of Economics at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one tenure-stream appointment in the field of Applied Microeconomics, with special interest in the subfields of Health Economics and Family/Gender Economics. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin July 1, 2019.

The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence in research and teaching in the field of Applied Microeconomics. The candidate must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Economics or in a related field with a focus in Economics by the time of appointment or soon thereafter. The candidate will be expected to conduct innovative and independent research at the highest international level, and to establish an outstanding, competitive, externally funded research program. The expertise of the candidate must complement well the expertise of the extant faculty in the department. The position comes with undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities, including courses and PhD supervision in the broadly defined field of Applied Microeconomics.

Candidates must provide evidence of excellence in research of the highest international caliber, demonstrated by an innovative job market paper with a significant contribution to the literature and strong recommendations by referees of high standing. Further support can be provided by publications in top-ranked field-relevant journals, high quality working papers, presentations at significant conferences, accolades, or awards. Excellence in teaching can be demonstrated by teaching accomplishments highlighted as part of the application, a teaching dossier including a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations, strong endorsements from referees, and evidence of strong communication and expository skills.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Economics at the University of Toronto Mississauga, and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Economics of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision of doctoral students at the St. George campus.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applications should be submitted online at www.economics.utoronto.ca/apply. A completed application will include a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a job market paper, up to three working papers, a teaching dossier including a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations, and three letters of reference (on letterhead, dated and signed) to be uploaded directly by the referees. The deadline for applications is November 19, 2018. Please note that paper applications will not be accepted.

If you have questions about this position please contact Professor Gustavo Bobonis at recruiting@economics.utoronto.ca. Information about the University of Toronto Mississauga Undergraduate Economics Department is available at www.utm.utoronto.ca/academic/eco/ and information about the Graduate Economics Department located at the St. George campus is available at www.economics.utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.