

Department of Economics - University of Toronto
Assistant Professor - Teaching Stream

The Department of Economics at the University of Toronto, St. George campus, invites applications for a full-time continuing-stream appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream. This appointment will commence on July 1, 2017.

We seek enthusiastic and innovative individuals pursuing an award-winning career in university teaching with both the ability and ambition to enhance the domestic and international reputation of our undergraduate programs. Candidates must have earned a Ph.D. in Economics by the time of appointment or soon thereafter.

The successful candidate must present clear evidence of: an outstanding teaching record that features teaching innovation; the capacity to expertly incorporate current research from at least two fields within economics into our undergraduate courses; and an aptitude for creative educational leadership at the level of courses, programs, the university, and beyond. In addition, the successful candidate must have the demonstrated capacity to adeptly teach our large-enrollment introductory economics sequence – an important undergraduate program requirement – and possess excellent expository, organizational, and interpersonal skills. At the application stage, the necessary evidence includes strong endorsements from referees, working papers or publications, and a creative, coherent and complete teaching dossier that highlights teaching accomplishments and any professional experience that may enhance teaching. A complete teaching dossier includes a teaching statement, course outlines, course evaluations, and select course materials that directly support and illustrate the teaching statement.

Salary is to be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To apply for the position, please visit <https://econjobmarket.org>. The deadline for applications is November 21, 2016. To be considered for the position, applicants must submit a curriculum vitae, a teaching dossier, one or more working papers or publications, and at least three letters of reference. Please note that paper applications will not be accepted. If you have questions about this position, please contact Professor Victor Aguirregabiria at recruiting@economics.utoronto.ca.

Information about the University of Toronto, Economics Department is available at <http://www.economics.utoronto.ca>.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.