OFFICE HOURS

Wednesdays 4:30 – 5:30 PM

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This seminar looks at some very diverse economies in a comparative framework. These include market, non-market, and hybrid economic systems, both historical and contemporary. In the first term, students examined primitive and tribal economies and contrasted them with the classical market economy and the modern process of globalization. In this second term, the seminar will contrast the functioning of market-oriented economies with that of government-led economies. The emphasis will be on the latter examining the experiences of South Korea, China, and Venezuela.

REQUIRED READINGS

You must purchase John Rapley's Understanding Development, third edition (Boulder: Lynne Rienner Publishers, 2007). We will use chapters from this book in four of the sessions of the seminar. This book is available at the university bookstore.

Other required and supplementary readings are available in a reading package from Print City, at 180 Bloor St. W., just west of Avenue Rd. Their telephone number is 416-920-3040.

SEMINARS

Seminars will be held on Tuesdays from 10:00 to 12:00 AM in room SS 2101.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

- A term paper on a topic related to the seminar themes. This essay will be due at the beginning of class on March 13. The paper should be about 3000 to 3500 words in length (12 to 15 double-spaced pages). Please note that, without exception, late submissions will not be accepted.

Note that, in addition to providing a hard copy, students must submit their papers to Turnitin.com for the detection of plagiarism. The detailed procedures for submission will be available later.

- A two-page tentative outline of the term paper, including the title, main theme, sub-sections, and a bibliography of at least six key readings will be due at the beginning of class on February 7. There will be a penalty for late submission of 5 percentage points (of the term paper grade) per day, excluding weekends.
- A term test covering the second term's work will be written from 10:00 to 12:00 AM on Thursday, April 5. Students will be asked to answer two questions from a list of about eight questions to be given in class on March 27.

Note that the test will not be written during regular lecture time. Students with a time conflict will be allowed to write the tests at an alternative time. In such cases, students must submit evidence — and receive approval — at least one week prior to the date of the test.

- Participation in seminar discussions will also form part of the total mark. Students must read the required readings in order to have a stimulating seminar. A weekly set of questions about the required readings will be provided in advance to facilitate your preparation.

COURSE EVALUATION

The total grade for the second term will be 50% of the course grade. The breakdown of the term grade will be as follows: 1) term paper will count for 20% of the final mark; 2) class test will count for 20% of the final mark; and 3) seminar participation will count for the other 10% of the final mark.

GUIDELINES FOR WRITING THE TERM PAPER

There are several Writing Centres at the University of Toronto where you can receive helpful information to guide you in writing an academic essay. A list of these Writing Centres can be accessed at www.utoronto.ca/writing/centres.html. More general advice on academic essay writing can also be electronically accessed at www.utoronto.ca/writing/essay.html.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity is one of the cornerstones of the University of Toronto. It is critically important both to maintain our community which honours the values of honesty, trust, respect, fairness and responsibility and to protect you, the students within this community, and the value of the degree towards which you are all working so diligently.

According to Section B of the University of Toronto's Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters (www.utoronto.ca/govcncl/pap/policies/behaveac.html) which all students are expected to know and respect, it is an offence for students:

- To use someone else's ideas or words in their own work without acknowledging that those ideas/words are not their own with a citation and quotation marks, i.e. to commit plagiarism.
- To include false, misleading or concocted citations in their work.
- To obtain unauthorized assistance on any assignment.
- To provide unauthorized assistance to another student. This includes, for instance, showing another student an answer in a test.
- To submit their own work for credit in more than one course without the permission of the instructor.
- To falsify or alter any documentation required by the University. This, includes, but is not limited to, doctor's notes.

- To use or possess an unauthorized aid in any test or exam (e.g., a cell phone).
- To continue writing when the time is up in any test or exam.

There are other offences covered under the Code, but these are by far the most common. Please respect these rules and the values which they protect.
