I will provide a package of notes at the beginning of the term at cost (@$5).

The final exam is a combination of short-answer and essay type questions with some choice in questions answered. The midterm is just short-answer questions with some choice.

The 15 page essay (i.e., 15 double spaced pages with normal margins and 12 point type, not including bibliography) will analyze primary and secondary sources specified by me on an aspect of the theories of one of the authors discussed in the course. I will only accept late essays during lectures and there are no extensions. The penalty for lateness is 5% (or 1.25 of 25%) on November 28 and a further 10% on December 5. Late essays are not eligible for remarking.

“Students must submit their course essays to Turnitin.com (Quercus) for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University’s use of the Turnitin.com service are described on the Turnitin.com web site.”

Presentation marks are given for a 1 page review (12 point type, double-spaced, normal margins given to me at the beginning of the presentation or there is a 1 mark deduction off the top), presentation of @ 5 minutes, and discussion of designated pages from an author during one seminar period for a potential 5 marks and the right to get one-half participation mark for a comment or question per seminar (which take place between 9:10 and 10:00 AM in the classroom prior to the lecture) up to a maximum of 5 marks for 10 seminars. Students will sign
