

ECONOMICS 303Y1

The Economic History of Modern Europe to 1914

(The Industrialization of Modern Europe, 1750 - 1914)

SECOND SEMESTER ESSAY TOPICS: January to April 2013

Revised on 4 January 2013.

Essay topics are to be drawn from ONE of the following three lists (A, B, C): with your free choice.

A. MOST RECOMMENDED TOPICS: from the Master List of Essay Topics

Topics drawn from the Master List of Topics: See this list on my Home Page, as follows:

<http://www.economics.utoronto.ca/munro5/303TUTOP.pdf>

The numbers in square brackets [after the title] refer to the topic numbers in the Master List

A - List Topics for the Second Semester: January to April 2013

6. The Standard of Living Debate during the 'Industrial Revolution' era, 1770 - 1850: The Social Consequences of Urban Industrialization [Topic no. 12]
7. Impediments to Continental Industrialization: The 'Slow Industrialization' of France, 1789 - 1914 [Topic no. 13]
8. The Role of the National State and Financial Institutions in European Economic Development: Germany and/or Russia, 1815 - 1914 [Topic no. 16]
9. Problems of the British Economy, 1870-1914: The Debate About post 1870 'Industrial Retardation' [Topic no. 19]
10. International Capital Flows and Price Movements under the Gold Standard, ca. 1840 - 1914: Did Real or Monetary Factors Predominate? [Topic no. 20]

B. OTHER AVAILABLE TOPICS FROM THE MASTER LIST: for the second semester, January to April 2013.

You may choose any one of these, instead of the topics given in the "A" List. But only the "A" list topics are guaranteed to be on the final examination. You are also expected to find your own readings for these topics; i.e., the readings provided in the bound collection of readings from Scholar House Productions are not (with a few exceptions) related to these topics. The following numbers are those given for these essay topics on the Master List.

14. Impediments to Continental Industrialization: Germany, 1815-1914
15. Impediments to Continental Industrialization: Russia, 1815-1914

16. The Role of the National State in European Economic Development, 1789-1914: Great Britain and or France
17. Entrepreneurship and Business Organization in European Industrialization During the 19th Century: Great Britain, Germany, and/or Russia
18. The 'Great Depression' of 1873-1896 in the European Economy: Myth or Reality?
21. The 'New Imperialism' of 1870-1914 (the Era of 'Capitalist Imperialism'): Foreign Trade, Capital Exports, and the Overseas Colonial Empires of Britain, France, and Germany up to World War I

Notes on the A and B List topics:

- a) Please note carefully that all of the preceding topics, i.e., nos. 1 - 11, were and are strictly reserved for the first term. They may not, therefore, be submitted for a second-term essay topic; but they may be submitted for a third essay, if you choose to write one.
- b) For each of these topics, you can similarly find, on my Home Page (under 'Bibliographies'), both a short-format bibliography (one or two pages) listing the major readings and question; and a long-format bibliography, often very lengthy, with additional questions, statistical tables, graphs, maps, etc. They are available in both html and PDF formats; but again you are best advised to select the PDF format, especially for the statistical tables (long-format), which are sometimes unintelligible in the html format (which can eliminate columns or rows).
- c) Again, you should base your essay on some sub-topic, or narrow aspect, of the general topic that you have chosen; do not attempt to cover the entire debate topic. For sub-topics, refer to the full bibliography for the topic.
- d) There is no guarantee that the subject matter of these secondary (B category) topics will appear on the final examination.
- e) For a fuller explanation of the significance of these topics, refer again to the web document for the Master List of Essay Topics for Eco. 301Y:

<http://www.economics.utoronto.ca/munro5/303TUTOP.pdf>

C. OTHER ALTERNATIVE ESSAY TOPICS, for the second semester: January to April 2013

You may instead choose or adapt any of the following essay topics; but please note that prepared bibliographies are not available for any of these topics, though some related bibliographies may be available. Thus check the Master List for possibly related bibliographies. I should note that very rarely indeed do students choose any of these topics (for obvious reasons); and I see no need to provide a new alternative set, since this one is very inclusive of the topics considered in this course. You must construct your own bibliography, for any of the following topics. If you wish to choose an alternative topic that is not from the following list (and not from the A or B lists) then you must obtain my approval for the topic.

Do not choose a topic that is related to either your first term essay or to the question selected for the mid-term test.

1. On Curing the Social Ills of the Industrial Revolution: British government legislation to protect the working classes in the 19th century.
2. Capital Exports and The British Economy: the changing structure and role of foreign investments, 1815 - 1914: or, as two separate topics, (a) 1815 - 1860; (b) 1860 - 1914

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS ON WRITING AND SUBMITTING YOUR TERM ESSAYS

(1) Essay Length and format: Essays should be about 3,000 words long, or about 10 typewritten or word-processed pages, with double-spaced typing. The minimum length is 2,100 words (about 7 pages) and the normal maximum is 3,600 words (about 12 pages), which, with my permission (virtually always given), may be extended to 4,500 words (about 15 pages). I am more concerned about the length of essays that are under the limit than I am about those over the limit (within reason, of course).

(2) Preparation: Please have your essays prepared on a typewriter or word-processor, if at all possible. Handwritten essays will be accepted, but only if they are neat and legible, and double-spaced.

(3) Second-term essays are due: on Friday, 22 March 2013, except for those who have obtained legitimate extensions (on medical or compassionate grounds).

- a) a bonus mark of 5% of the value of the essay (25 marks) will be awarded to those submitting their term essay before or on the actual due date.
- b) The late penalty is 3% of the value of the essay (25 marks) per week of lateness. Late penalties apply only from one week after the formal due date (as above) – because the late penalty is applied by the week, not the day.
- c) The late penalty applies only until the last day of classes – and thus only for one week – when all term work must be submitted. Thereafter, the late penalties become increasingly onerous (100% penalty after the day of the final examination). See the course outline for more details.

(4) For More information on writing term essays:

a) Consult the web document entitled: *Instructions on Writing Term Essays, for instructions on and other information about preparing term essays. It is also available on-line, on my Home Page:

<http://www.economics.utoronto.ca/munro5/ESSINSTR.pdf>

b) Consult also the Course Outline, for further information on submitting the term essays, deadlines, and late penalties. It is available on-line on my Home Page:

<http://www.economics.utoronto.ca/munro5/303out.pdf>

c) See also the following book (available from the bookstore): Deirdre N. McCloskey, Economical Writing, 2nd edition (Waveland Press, Illinois, 2000).

MORE SPECIFIC AND MANDATORY ESSAY REQUIREMENTS: some of which is included in the above web documents.

Your essay must meet the following requirements, or else it will be rejected, unread and ungraded.

1. Your essay must contain footnotes with pagination (or endnotes, or citations within the text, similarly with page numbers); and an annotated bibliography, prepared according to the instructions in Instructions on Writing Term Essays. If you submit a term essay that is lacking in either proper footnotes, etc. and/or an annotated bibliography, you will receive a failing grade for the essay, unless you submit the essay to me personally first, for approval; and if you do so, submitting an improper or incomplete essay, I will give the opportunity to revise it accordingly. Footnotes are preferable to endnotes, which in turn are preferable to in-text citations; but your grade will not be affected by the choice.

2. Your essay must not be under the minimum or over the maximum word limits, i.e., between about 2100 and 4500 words, without my written and signed permission; but I will almost certainly accept legitimate essays of 15 pages or more (i.e., within reason), if its extra length is the result of considerable research. If you use a word processor, use the word-count function and put the number of words on the title page of your essay. Essays whose word count is below the minimum are of far more concern to me than those whose word count is above the maximum.

3. Your essay must be based upon a minimum of five published academic sources, with the following stipulations to be carefully observed. Failure to observe these conditions may result in a failing grade; or at least, in the requirement that you revise and resubmit your essay.
  - a) i.e., journal articles, monographs, book-collection of essays, etc. Obviously, the five (or more) articles and/or essays provided in the package of readings (to be obtained from Scholar House Productions) constitute a valid part (or entirety) of the five required sources. You are not, however, required to use all or even any of the readings in the package, if the choice of you're a or B topic does not pertain to these readings. You should, however, clearly explain in your bibliography, perhaps in the annotation, why you did not use the package of readings for the topic selected.

  - b) Excluded from this minimum of five sources are the following: textbooks, encyclopaedias, dictionaries, my lecture notes, CD-ROM collections, unpublished documents taken from the internet – including my Working Papers (as well as those of other scholars). You may, of course, use and cite these sources, but only in addition to the five published academic sources. In your bibliography, these sources should be listed separately, after the others, as Supplementary Sources.

  - c) Journal articles found on-line (e.g., by JSTOR) may be included within the minimum number of five sources, provided that these articles have already been published – i.e., are now in print.

  - d) If you use only the minimum number of five such sources, no more than two may be the same author. If you use more than five such published sources, you may, of course, cite other sources by the same author.

  - e) Please remember that the term primary sources refers to published documents or calendars of documents (i.e., lists of documents, often with a précis of the document) and published collections of statistical data; and the term secondary sources refers to published articles, essays, monographs, etc. in which historians and/or economists interpret documents and data. Thus the term 'primary' does NOT mean the most important (secondary) publications consulted. Do not, therefore, use these terms unless you have employed published documents and/or statistics.

  - f) You do not need to annotate citations of my lecture notes, web documents, or even textbooks. The annotation rule applies only to the sources listed in (a) above.

  - g) If you cite my lecture notes, provide both the exact title and the date of the lecture (and, ideally as well, the URL for the lecture notes).

- h) Before using and citing my Working Papers, check to see whether a published version of that paper exists. Obviously, it is much preferable to use the finally published version.
4. You may not and must not use in your essay any table, graph, map or illustration that I have given you as a hand-out (including those contained within the published lectures); nor may you include photo-copies of tables or graphs from secondary sources, not without my express permission. You may, however, include photocopies of maps and illustrations, etc. without such permission.
5. If you do not submit your essay prepared on a word processor or typewriter, you must write or hand-print the essay neatly, with double-spacing, writing on one side of the page only.
6. Please append a title page to your essay, which must contain the following:
- Your full name (SURNAME in capitals) and your university registration number
  - Your e-mail address, mailing address, and phone number: most important! I may need the mailing address to return late essays, before or after the final examination
  - The course number and title of the course
  - The title of the essay and the topic number (in terms of the A, B, and C lists)

7. Other Notes and Explanations:

- (a) The numbers in square brackets refer to those on the Master List of topics. Please refer to them for fuller information on the nature and scope of these debate topics, and why they should be interesting to both economists and historians (and indeed political scientists as well).
- (b) For each of these topics there is a one-page handout with listings of the more important readings, chiefly recent periodical articles, and major questions. The more important readings are marked by asterisks: * or **. These short-form bibliographies are posted on my Home Page (web site): <http://www.economics.utoronto.ca/munro5/>
- (c) For each of these topics, and indeed for any of the topics in the Master List of 20 topics, I have supplied a complete and usually very lengthy bibliography, organized by sub-topics within this debate; and most of these bibliography sets also contain statistical tables. They are also available on my Home page, both in html (without graphs, etc.) and PDF formats. You are best advised to select the PDF format, especially for the statistical tables (long-format), which are sometimes unintelligible in the html format (which can eliminate columns or rows).
- (d) A set of readings, consisting of two articles for each of these five topics, will be available for sale, from:
- Scholar House Productions
100 Harbord Street (at Spadina: Main Floor)
Toronto, Ontario M5S 1G6
phone: (416) 977 - 9641
fax: (416) 977 - 0147
e-mail: lynds@scholar-house.on.ca or sales@scholar-house.on.ca
- (e) These five A-List topics contain the primary recommended readings for the course this term; and thus you are advised to read one or two of the readings from each of these lists, in addition to or in place of the textbooks.

- (f) In some form or other, virtually all of these A-List topics will appear on the final examination. Hence the strong emphasis on doing at least some readings for each topic.
- (g) In writing your essay, please do not try to cover the entire topic, since these are all ‘debate’ topics that cover wide-ranging issues, usually involving lengthy time-periods for a wide geographic range. You should base your essay on one specific sub-topic, or narrow aspect, of the general topic that you have chosen; and you should normally try to confine yourself to one or two regions or countries; and, if possible, in a more restricted time-framework than that covered by the debate topic. But at least be sure that the essay is restricted to one specific and relatively narrow sub-topic, which may be more easily found in the following.

8. The marking scheme for essays in my undergraduate economic history courses

a) allocation of marks: out of 100% for the essay

- i) quality of the research (including number and relevance of the sources): 30%
- ii) quality of the analysis: economic and/or historical: 45%
- iii) quality of the written exposition: clarity, cogency, literary style, grammar, syntax, punctuation, spelling, etc.: 25%

2. Refer to my on-line document on: How to Get an “A” grade on term essays and the mid-year test (without bribes):

<http://www.economics.utoronto.ca/munro5/GRADEXa.pdf>

My TA (who marks all the term essays) has been instructed not to end up with numerical marks ending in 9: i.e., 49, 59, 69, 79, 89. The TA has also been asked to review this web-document and decide, on that basis, whether – for the sum of its parts – the essays deserves to receive a B- or C+ grade, an A- or B+ grade, etc.

9. The focus of the essay: economics or history?

Whether the focus of your essay is economic analysis or historical analysis is up to you. Economic history belongs equally to Economics and to History. Follow your own comparative advantage and your own approach to economic history in doing so.
